

JEFF FOXWORTHY

Jeff Foxworthy is one of the most respected and successful stand-up comedians in the country. He is the largest selling comedy-recording artist in history, a multiple Grammy Award nominee and bestselling author of 26 books. Widely known for his redneck jokes, his act goes well beyond that to explore the humor in everyday family interactions and human nature, a style that has been compared to Mark Twain's.

In 1993, Jeff released his first comedy album, You Might Be a Redneck If..., which became the first Platinum Comedy Album in the history of the recording industry, eclipsing such comedy legends as Bill Cosby, George Carlin, Steve Marin, and Eddie Murphy. Jeff's second album, Games Redneck Play, was also certified Triple Platinum by the Recording Industry Association of America and received a Grammy nomination for Best Spoken Comedy Album. Jeff also received Grammy nominations for his comedy albums Totally Committed and Big Funny.

Jeff created the Blue Collar Comedy Tour, a comedy troupe which also comprises Larry the Cable Guy, Bill Engvall, and Ron White, which culminated in three television comedy specials, a television variety show Blue Collar TV, and multiple national tours.

Jeff has made several ventures into television, starring in his own sitcom The Jeff Foxworthy Show, hosting the quiz show Are You Smarter Than a 5th Grader? and GSN's The American Bible Challenge.